THERE IS A PRICE FOR RELATIONSHIP. Rabindra Nath Tagore, the mystic poet of India, tells a memorable story from his own life which illustrates the truth of what Jesus teaches in today's Gospel, namely, that there is a price we have to pay in order to be in his Kingdom, to keep a relationship with him. [Matthew 13:44-46].

Tagore's cook and housekeeper did not come to work on time one morning. Like so many professional men of his mind-set, Tagore was utterly helpless when it came to the routine details of the day, getting his clothes together, making his breakfast, tidying up his place. An hour went by, and Tagore was getting angrier by the minute. He thought of all kinds of punishment. Three hours later he no longer thought of punishment. He would discharge the man without any further consideration, get rid of him, turn him out. Finally, the man showed up. It was mid-day. Without a word, the servant proceeded with his duties as though nothing had happened. He picked up Tagore's clothes and set to making breakfast. Then he started cleaning. Tagore watched all of this with mounting rage. Finally, he said, "Drop everything! Get out! I can't stand the sight of you. You are dismissed...fired!" The man, however, continued sweeping, and after another few minutes, with quiet dignity he said, "My little girl died last night." [Fr. Tony Kadavil].
